THE NEWARK PRISONERS DISCHARGED. NO EVIDENCE ON WHICH TO HOLD THEM—A CONFESSION TO THE PUBLIC PROSECUTOR. The three men arrested at Newark on Tuesday night, for an alleged attempt to swindle a merchant, were discharged from custody last night. It was decided by the prosecutor that they could not be held under the criminal laws of the State, as they had committed no overt act, and there was no evidence on which indictments could be found.

W. H. BULL, WHO LIVES IN NEWARK AND DOES BUSINESS AS A DIAMOND AND JEWELRY DEALER IN JOHN-ST., THIS CITY, APPEARED AT NEWARK POLICE HEADQUARTERS AND RECOGNIZED ONE OF THE PRISONERS AS "A. BARTH," FOR WHOM HE HAD SHIPPED DIAMONDS WORTH $90 TO LOUISVILLE, KY., EARLY LAST DECEMBER. BARTH HAD CALLED AT HIS PLACE AND ORDERED THE GOODS SENT C. O. D., BY EXPRESS. There is a man of the same name living in Louisville whose credit is good, and Mr. Bull was under the impression that the consignment was to him.

ALFRED L. MILLER, THE BROKER, WHO WAS ARRESTED WITH THE MEN, MADE A CONTRIBUTION TO THE MONEY CRISIS OF NEWARK. He said to the Prosecutor: "A couple of months ago a man came into my office in Liberty-st., New-York, and represented that he wanted to sell some real estate. We had a consultation, in which he revealed his scheme, and then I consented to work an end of it in Newark, with which I am familiar. I was introduced to Hall and Smith, and fell for their money. We went into the deal on equal shares. We expected to 'tap' Courter for a few of his thousands and would have been satisfied with a few thousand apiece. Whatever money was made was divided in three, and then returned to Courter for second instalment. If he objected to this, or if Courter demanded more we could laugh at him as we had him implicated by the making of the deal. While we were getting money from him unlawfully, he was at the same time using us to float his paper with the intention of becoming insolvent before the notes matured. He got Courter to sign the notes, and then he and his partners and didn't succeed, and that I have not made a penny out of the scheme."
